Description of the organisation

I Liceum Ogólnokształcące im. Władysława Broniewskiego w Świdniku is a secondary school for students from grades 9-12 (15-19 years old). 420 students attend the school and 32 teachers work there. It provides general education to students who would like to continue their education and go to university.

Students, teachers and parents actively take part in various school projects, both local and national in order to use innovation and exchange of good practices. These activities are an integral part of the school curricula and provide measurable benefits in the form of systematically growing results of external exams and language competences.

Experience of the organization in previous European projects

The school has not participated in the Erasmus+ programs, but it has hired a few teachers who have been participating in Comenius and Erasmus+ projects for many years. The fact that the school hasn't applied for an Erasmus+ grant might be an advantage.

Experience and Expertise of the organization in the project's subject area

The school offers general education to students at secondary level. Ancient history, geography and Information Technology are part of the curricula which students take at the basic and extended level. Teachers who teach these subjects are experienced educators who organise a variety of extra-curricular activities and events for the students, e.g. university lectures and workshops in cooperation with a number of universities from the region.

Contributions that can be provided to the project

I Liceum Ogólnokształcące im. Władysława Broniewskiego w Świdniku will contribute to the realization of the guidelines of the ATLAS (IO.1) thanks to the participation in the kick-off meeting and online conferences. Through workshops we will collect suggestions and possible project outputs from teachers of history, geography and Information Technology. We will also inform the student about the project and will present them the project outline, to receive input which will be transferred to the scientific team. In the third project year, our schools will assume a strategic role in evaluating the ATLAS. Our students and teachers will test the online platform to verify its effectiveness and check if it is user-friendly. We will hold a hackathon, a one-day event in which the Atlas will be tested and debugged. The experience of the hackathon will be later used to create the Students' booklet for Students (IO3).

Reasons of involvement in the project

An Erasmus+ project will certainly be an excellent opportunity to develop digital and linguistic competences of students as well as improve the level of education. The entire school community counts on the participation in the project, which will enable teacher to share experience and good practices between partner institutions, and focus the attention of the local community on the most important issues in the 21st century.
